Methodist Home Children To Visit Bay St. Louis

Twenty-six eight to ten year old children from the Methodist Home in Jackson will spend a week in Bay St. Louis as guests of generous residents of the community.

The project of bringing children to the coast each year is part of the work done by the Bay St. Louis Council of Church Women of which Mrs. Harold Weston is president.

Mrs. Norman Renshaw chairman of the project advised the children will arrive by a bus from the Jackson Home, Monday, June 17. They will be guests at "luncheon" at the home of Mrs. Leo Seal and from there will be met and taken to the homes where they will spend the balance of the week. On Friday after lunch they will again meet at the Seal home to board the bus for the return trip to Jackson.

Mrs. Robert Hamilton will be in charge of a beach party and wiener roast for the group on Thursday evening at the Yacht Club.

Mrs. Renshaw advised that homes for about 16 of the children have been volunteered; however, there are about ten little ones left to be placed, and any persons who would like to take one or more of these children for several days will be doing a very fine act of goodness. If interested in the project please call Mrs. Renshaw at HO-7-4636.

A hearing by the Miss Supreme Court, Monday, May 27, on the appeal of Dale Morris to be freed under bond from jail at Gulfport was set by the Court for September 10.

Morris, who was denied bond by Judge Leslie B. Grant after a third mistrial in Hancock County, has been held in the Gulfport jail, pending a fourth trial for the alleged slaying of Charles Flink, on November 22, 1955.

Judge Grant, who sat on the bench during the three trials of Morris, refused bond on his statement "the proof of the guilt of the prisoner is evident."

The fourth trial of Morris for the alleged murder of Flink is set for September when Circuit Court convenes in Hancock County.

On May 24, Dale was indicted by a Jackson County Grand Jury on charges of narcotics possession. No date was set for the arraignment of Morris in the Jackson County court, where Judge Grant will again be on the bench.

Morris was charged in Jackson county and indicted by the Grand Jury for having demoralized an opium-type narcotic in his possession Nov. 22, 1955, while temporarily residing in Ocean Springs.

A pass to the Star Theatre will be donated by the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Scalfi to each donor.

Two Armadillos Found In Bay St. Louis

Two armadillos have been found in the past two weeks in Bay St. Louis. The first was picked up near the American Legion home on South Beach about two weeks ago and released back of the Seminary in a wooded section.

The second was found dead on the beach Monday in front of Camp Onward. Some motorist had apparently hit the animal as it attempted to cross the road. Its protective shell covering was cracked when found.

These animals which are protected by a hard shell covering are harmless. An adult grows to between two and three feet normally. The second one found measured close to three feet it was reported and was considered large.

Native to southwest Texas and Central and South America, it is strange to find them locally. It is believed they must have gotten away from some place where animals and reptiles are shown and traveled into this area.

MEMORIAL DAY CEREMONIES HELD WEDNESDAY, MAY 29

Memorial Day ceremonies were held Wednesday afternoon, May 29, with graves of local men who gave their lives for their country during the war, decorated by members of the Clement R. B. Post 138, American Legion.

Vincent J. Lagroue, Legionnaire chairman of the decorating committee, said Wednesday afternoon he was selected to honor the dead here due to business houses being closed during the afternoon and the half holiday permitting more Legionnaires to be present for the services.

Starting from the grave of Clement R. Bontemps, first Hancock

County man to give his life during World War I, and in whose honor the local legion post was named, the Legionnaires reverently visited the graves of all Hancock County men who fought for their country during wars. Miniature American Flags were placed on each grave, as Honor Rifles and Color Guards stood at attention.

Laurent Dickson, Chaplain, of the local post was speaker.

Graves visited in both St. Mary's and Cedar Rest Cemetery included men who served in the Grand Army of the Republic, Army of the Confederate States, Spanish American War, World War I, World War II and the Korean War.

COLEMAN WANTS WAITING PERIOD FOR MARRIAGES

Jackson, Miss. — Governor J. P. Coleman favors a mandatory 30-day waiting period as one means of halting Mississippi's "quickness" marriage mills."

Coleman told a news conference yesterday he also advocates raising the marriage license fee from the present $3 to $10.

UNHEALTHY PUBLICITY "I think the Legislature will stop these quickie marriages," the governor said. "They'll want to stop this unhealthy publicity."

"After all, it's morally wrong for kids to run off to Mississippi, get married and then go back home and get a divorce."

Coleman said the Prentiss County election commission was seeking to determine the number of qualified voters in the county as of last March 11, the date of petitions signed to remove Sheriff George Rutherford, Jr., on grounds he allowed bootlegging to flourish. Coleman said he expected to have the commission's report late today.

OTHER SUBJECTS On other subjects, the governor said:

1. He will recommend the 1958 Legislature raise ceilings on old age benefits and the totally and permanently disabled.

2. The state's "black market" tax on the sale of illegal liquor should be repealed.

3. Both houses of the Legislature favor a convention to rewrite the 1890 constitution.

MEAT BUYER REAPS BENEFITS AS FARM EFFICIENCY RISES

Competition in the meat industry is stiffening, with the consumer benefiting and the producers having to make adjustments to fit the market. Meat from poultry can be produced more efficiently pound for pound, than other kinds of meat, but buying habits have not kept pace with grower's abilities to produce. Broiler growers convert less than 275 pounds of feed into 100 pounds of chickens. Swine producers need 426 pounds of feed to grow 100 pounds of pork. Best drylot feeding for cattle have taken around 7.5 pounds of grain concentrates per pound of gain.

Since 1940 beef has increased about 50 per cent in per capita consumption—from 54 to 83 pounds. Broilers, on the other hand, have increased about 1000 per cent. Add the 53 pounds of eggs to the 31 pounds of poultry meat the average American consumer annually and you see that poultry and eggs combined are a larger item than either beef or pork.

President Tito has emphasized that Yugoslavia would continue her independent course no matter what pressures Moscow or other Communist capitals might bring to bear upon her.

Other contract modifications include reclassification of a number of cities and towns for wage purposes and consolidation of the Company-Union recognition agreement and working agreement, for nearly two documents, into one.

Bargaining on the agreement started April 22 and THE CONTRACT, if ratified by the union, would be made effective, May 22.

Mr. Turner said, "The Wage increases are necessary to keep Southern Bell people's wages comparable to those paid by other employees in the state. It is the policy of the company to keep the pay of our employees in line with wage levels in Mississippi. Surveys showed that there had been upward movement in the Southeast and our increases are made accordingly. Good wages are necessary in order to attract and retain competent people. However, telephone rates ultimately must reflect any necessary increase such as wages."

"The contract is a good one that is fair and just to the employees, the public and the owners of the business," Mr. Turner said.

The new contract will run one year and beyond that period unless one party gives sixty-day notice of cancellation.

SMALL NEWSPAPERS BIG AID TO FARMERS

Among the forces that are contributing much to the progress and development of agriculture in Mid-South are the smaller daily and weekly newspapers. Not only are the newspapers covering farm news better, they are working closely with professional agricultural leaders in getting research information to the farmers as quickly as possible. They are encouraging better practices through editorials and by reporting in their news columns achievements of farmers who have successfully adopted new and improved methods of production. They are also big boosters of 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America and the Home Demonstration Club program.

Three Bay St. Louis youths will enjoy a profitable as well as exciting summer. Pat Glover, Jim Sigerou, New Orleans, spent several days last week visiting Mrs. Eddie Sigerou, who enjoyed having her son and his wife, and her brother and sister in law for the visit.

The Tuna Fleet which has created quite an industry in coastal ports where catches of fine edibles that are canned, is a lure for most high school youths during vacation. Lucky lads get the jobs. The boats are modern, a far cry from the schooners of by-gone days when the seafarers of the deep. Also the pay is excellent. The boats remain in Gulf waters for three or four weeks, returning when loaded to home ports where they put in for several days restocking, then sail again. The boys hope to have three or four trips during the vacation months.

• Mrs. Tony Monti is in New Orleans this week visiting her sister Miss Jane Tuconi, who underwent surgery, Wednesday at Touro Infirmary.

Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Dickson, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Brummett and their daughters Jane and Betty have returned to Aberdeen, Miss. They were guests in the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Shipp.

• CUTTING OF LEGUMES IS PREFERRED EARLY

There has been a lot of early growth on clovers, vetch and wild winter peas. The question is whether to cut the legumes early, even though the oats or wheat in it is not in the dough stage. The cereal in the early growth makes good silage and should be cut in an early stage of growth rather than wait until the cereal is in the dough stage because some of the legumes will be too far into maturing by that time. Most farmers depend on cereals for hay rather than the legumes, so wait on the cereal for hay rather than cutting early.

1955. H. A. Gosselink, Sr., is in charge of Marine Recruiters in this state. He has made arrangements that Marine Recruit Platoon will be called the "Johnny Appleseed" platoon, and will be composed of 100 volunteers, 70 of whom will be Mississippians.

Current plans call for the "Johnny Appleseed" platoon to leave for recruit training on June 25. That means that men may join the Marine Corps now, or as soon as they graduate and stay home until the last of June before leaving with their buddies for recruit training.

The platoon will be enlisted at the State Capitol building where the state flag will be presented to the "Johnny Appleseed" platoon.

And will be the platoon colors strengthen their future training? Captain Gosselink, Sr., is in agreement with the plan for the Mississippi Marine Recruit Platoon. "Since I am a Marine, I fully understand what it means to a young man to leave home and train with strangers. Although a man makes friends very fast in the Marine Corps, it still isn't like home and this is one way of making it a little less lonesome during the first few days." Another benefit of the platoon, is that men will be able to join the Marine Corps now and still have some vacation before leaving on their tour of duty as a U. S. Marine.

The captain said to remember, the Marine Corps has all three Land, Sea and Air—and has won fame in all phases. By joining together, you will make life time friends all over the state.

and when you are released from the Marines you will have contacts all over the state in all types of business.

See your Marine recruiter today for more details about this group. It's THE U. S. MARINES, known the world over since 1775.

Experimental Station Expands Research On Fire Ant Control

State College, Miss.—Work began several years ago by the Mississippi Experimental Station on control of the imported fire ant, has been intensified as this relatively new pest continues to spread over the state.

The Entomology Department has set up 150 test plots of one-acre each in a large pasture in Lowndes County which the owners made available for this research. innocent victim of a speeding accident with all the commonly used insecticides applied in various ways, including ground equipment and airplanes. Insecticides are applied in the form of dusts, granules, and liquids. Various rates and times of application are being compared in a very complete study of the problem.

"One of the problems," according to Entomologists R. E. Hutchins and H. B. Green, "is that of finding a poison bait that is attractive to the ants. A large amount of materials have been tested with little or no success. When a hill is broken into the ants boil out in tremendous numbers and sting viciously but so far as actually eating a poison bait, they do not seem interested.

"It is probable that no insect in our history has sprung into notoriety as rapidly as the imported fire ant. It is believed that the sudden explosive abundance of colonies over Mississippi has resulted from favorable colony-founding conditions. During the past year or so the colonies suddenly became large enough to see and cause trouble."

Dr. Hutchins and Mr. Green have published an article describing the ants and listing current recommendations for their control. It appears in the May issue of Mississippi Farm Research and is available on request without cost at the Experimental Station, State College, Mississippi.

The new program, Swift emphasized, may provide benefits which will in some cases duplicate the Grant-in-Aid effort, particularly in the case of conservation workshops for teachers. Many of these have obtained Federation support in recent years.

Deadline For Starting
State Foundation
Contest Extended

Jackson, Miss., May 20. (Special)
Deadline for entering the Foundation Forestry Contest has been extended to July 1, according to an announcement today by John Squires, State Chairman of the Contest.

Squires pointed out that the extension of time was made to benefit farmers who have not been able to participate due to unfavorable weather conditions.

Applications are available from Area Foresters, U. S. Forest Service Rangers, Extension Workers, Vo-Ag teachers, Soil Conservation Service personnel, ASC Office Managers, and all members of the Agricultural Workers Coordinating Council.

The contest, Squires said, is designed to improve five-acre woodlands plots which the contestants select from their timberlands. Points are given for carrying out all needed forest practices such as plowing fire lanes, harvesting by correct methods, and removing undesirable trees.

A winner from each county will be treated to a 2-day expense paid trip to Jackson during State Fair Week as a guest of the Foundation and the Mississippi Forestry Association, co-sponsoring organization. As an added attraction this year, five district winners will each receive a $10 cash prize from the Jackson Chamber of Commerce.

Contestants may obtain help in selecting their plot and advice on practices to carry out from any agricultural or forestry representative including federal, state, county, industrial, or private.

Driver Improvement
Phase of Miss Driver
Licensing Program

The driver improvement phase of Mississippi's driver licensing program is being expanded, according to Commissioner of Public Safety Tom Scarborough, in an effort to further reduce state traffic fatalities.

Driver improvement is the watchdog over individual driver records, and motorists who repeatedly disregard traffic rules may feel the long arm of this program reaching for their licenses.

However, the primary purpose of driver improvement is to improve the standard of this so-called "problem driver," not suspend his or her driving privileges. The latter step is taken only in extreme cases.

Safety officials estimate that less than 15 percent of all drivers should be considered incorrigible traffic law violators. Under the expanded patrol driver improvement program these incorrigibles will be weeded out.

Processing cases of repeat law violators will be M. S. Willis, Mendenhall, and Maurice Laird, Jackson, two Patrol officers who recently attended a two-week school in driver improvement work conducted at Chattanooga, Tenn., under the sponsorship of the Tennessee and the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

Patrolmen Laird and Willis are presently processing more than 500 cases where drivers have had three or more accidents or traffic law convictions.

The Highway Patrol is presently receiving more than 150,000 conviction and accident records yearly. These records are placed in the permanent file and individual concerned, and are used as a basis for removing accident-prone or habitual violator from the highway.

Action taken by the Department of Public Safety can be (1) a written warning letter, (2) a personal interview with the driver, (3) re-examination, (4) suspension.

State law requires that all traffic law convictions be forwarded to Highway Patrol Headquarters, Jackson, and provides for the suspension of privileges of frequent repeaters.

THE PLATOON

Colonel H. A. Crumpler, Sr. is in charge of Marine Recruits in this state, has made arrangements that another Royal Platoon will be called the "Johnny Reb" platoon. It is this platoon that will be composed of approximately 200 men, of whom all will be Mississippians.

Current plans call for the "Johnny Reb" to leave for recruit training on June 21. That means that men may join the Marine Corps now or as soon as they graduate and stay home until the last of June before leaving with their buddies for recruit training.

The platoon will be enlisted at the State Capitol building where the state flag will be presented to the "Johnny Reb". The state flag will be the platoon colors throughout their entire training.

Colonel Crumpler, Sr. in announcing the plan for the Mississippi Royal Platoon, stated, "Since I am a native Mississippian, I fully understand what it means to a young man to leave home and train with strangers. Although a man makes friends very fast in the Marine Corps, it still isn't like home and this is one way of making it a little less lonesome during the first few days." Another benefit of the platoon, is that men will be able to join the Marine Corps now and still have some vacation before leaving on their tour of duty as a U. S. Marine.

The captain said to remember, the Marine Corps has all three Land, Sea and Air—and has won fame in all phases. By joining together, you will make life time friends all over the state.

Experiment Station
Expands Research On Fire-Ant Control

State College, Miss.—Work began several years ago by the Mississippi Experimental Station on control of the imported fire ant has been intensified as this relatively new pest continues to spread over the state.

The Entomology Department has set up 150 test plots of one acre each in a large pasture in Lowndes County which the owners made available for this research. innocent victim of a speeding accident with all the commonly used insecticides applied in various ways, including ground equipment and airplanes. Insecticides are applied in the form of dusts, granules, and liquids. Various rates and times of application are being compared in a very complete study of the problem.

"One of the problems," according to Entomologists R. E. Hutchins and H. B. Green, "is that of finding a poison bait that is attractive to the ants. A large amount of materials have been tested with little or no success. When a hill is broken into the ants bolt in tremendous numbers and sting viciously but so far as actually eating a poison bait, they do not seem interested.

"It is probable that no insect in our history has sprung into notoriety as rapidly as the imported fire ant. It is believed that the sudden explosive abundance of colonies over Mississippi has resulted from favorable colony-founding conditions. During the past year or so the colonies suddenly became large enough to see and cause trouble."

Dr. Hutchins and Mr. Green have published an article describing the ants and listing current recommendations for their control.

It appears in the May issue of Mississippi Farm Research and is available on request without cost at the Experimental Station, State College, Mississippi.

"Driving Faster Doesn't Mean You'll Get There Quicker"

"Because you drive faster doesn't mean you'll get there quicker. Speeders sometimes don't arrive at all," L. E. Alfred of Jackson, Mississippi Petroleum Industries Committee chairman, advised to day.

Mr. Alfred, in announcing oil industry support for the summer "Slow Down and Live" program officially endorsed by Governor Coleman, noted that 13,380 of the nation's 40,000 traffic fatalities last year came in speeding accidents.

"All the time 'saved' by speed drivers is as nothing compared to the lifetime lost by just one innocent victim of a speeding accident," he said. He recommended occasional "coffee-breaks" as a means of taking the "hurry up tension" out of motor trips.

"Gasoline service station operators and others in Mississippi's oil industry are joining the Governor in reminding motorists to slow down and enjoy their travels in the heavy vacation traffic period ahead. A full tank of gasoline can produce many miles of pleasant, comfortable driving on holiday trips. We want our customers to take it easy and return from these trips safely," he added.

The "Slow Down and Live" campaign, sponsored by the National Council of State Safety Coordinators, will begin Thursday, Memorial Day, and continue through Labor Day.

President Eisenhower has signed the measure increasing the interest on Federal savings bonds from 3 to 4½ per cent.

Wildlife Federation
To Expand Its Educational Program

Washington, D. C.—The National Wildlife Federation will expand its educational program, especially that area dealing with financial grants to underwrite various conservation projects. Ernest Swift, Executive Director, announced.

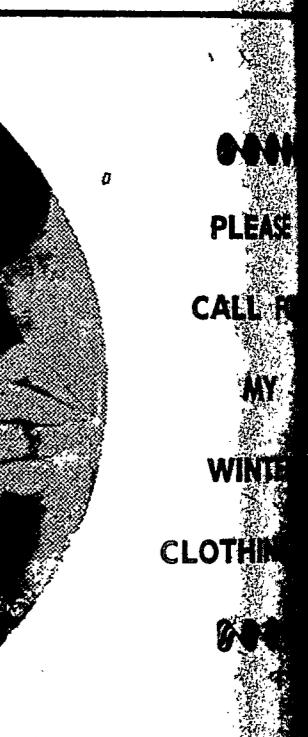

The Federation's Grant-in-Aid program, under which financial benefits were made available to state affiliates, will be replaced by a more flexible program. The new program, Swift emphasized, may provide benefits which will in some cases duplicate the Grant-in-Aid effort, particularly in the case of conservation workshops for teachers. Many of these have obtained Federation support in recent years.

The Director of Education for the Federation, Dr. John Douglas Bulger, is currently consulting top conservation personnel at universities throughout the United States for help in the formulation of Recreational fishing is has been good this past weekend. Some tall croakers, drum and sheepshead were caught up Jordan River, as well as green trout and perch. The fresh water fish are being caught late in the evening when the tide is falling, which is natural.

Flounders and soft crabs are not what they used to be, however a few are being caught. Monday night the beach from Bay St. Louis to Clermont Harbor looked like a sandbar. Each party out reported catching one or two flounders and very few crabs. John Damborne, Henry Lang and Dee Elliott spent 4 hours in the lake with Henry catching two flounders. The night seemed perfect, no wind—but no flounders. What's wrong Charlie?

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Argus had as guests Saturday aboard their big sail boat the "Calypso" Mr. and Mrs. John Plunkett and guests and Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Quigley. They were viewing the races at Yacht Club.

Guests of Eddie Treacher over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Comforto, managers of Herbie Rodriguez, fighter of New Orleans and Von Voll who he defeated recently. Herbie and Voll were resting after their bout.

Fishing out at the Keys just now is not so hot according to "Mitch" Mitchell who with Mr. E. S. Drake made a trip with little success. The winds have been from the wrong direction and have been rather strong said Mitch.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamrick of "Sportsman Lake" have been catching some nice speckles lately.

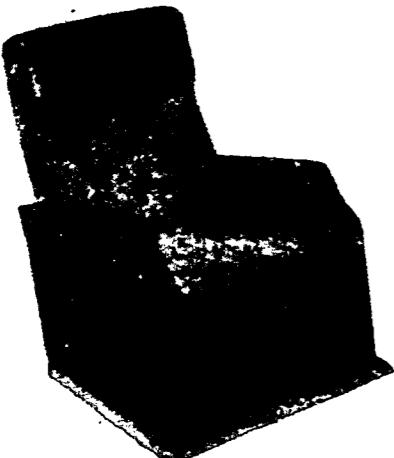

Ben Hille and the Missus have been rather busy painting and fixing up their boat house on Jordan River. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hille and friends spend some nice week ends at their camp.

Motorists Who Warn Speeders Of Radar Location Aid Campaign

Jackson, May 22—Motorists who warn speeders of radar locations unsuspectingly aid the Highway Patrol's all-out campaign on traffic deaths, and amuse Commissioner of Public Safety Tom Scarborough.

As to the term "speed trap," as radar machines are commonly called, Scarborough says he has no objection to the term and even thinks it might be doing good.

"Speed traps has an ominous sound, and is making the motorist more conscious of his speed. By driving defensively, avoiding getting trapped, the motorist is, in effect, saving his life," he explains.

"We are all for this blinking of headlights and two-finger signaling" chuckles Commissioner Scarborough. "The speeders are slowing other speeders down very effectively, and we are deeply grateful for this unsolicited help."

Actually, the slowing down of the speeders and subsequent reduction in death is the object of the Patrol's radar program. And this is being accomplished.

Since the Mississippi Highway Patrol launched its strict enforcement campaign last January, fatal accidents have dropped steadily. As of May 21, the '57 death toll stands at 150 killed, 58 less fatalities than were reported during the corresponding period of 1956.

The steady decline in the state's highway death rate has occurred during a period when increasing attention was focused on radar "speed traps." Despite occasional criticism of radar and speed traps, the Patrol has continued to use its 12 electric speed traps, and according to Commissioner Scarborough, there will be no let up as long as human lives can be saved.

The Patrol head has stated re-

Parents of Mississippi's Retarded Children Not Being Forgotten

Parents of Mississippi's some 20,000 mentally retarded children have not been forgotten in the plans for the Institute on Retardation, June 5, 6, 7, at the Robert E. Lee Hotel in Jackson.

Parents and friends of these children ranging in age from infancy through teen-age will be discussed by parents and members of the Mississippi Association for Retarded Children at the Wednesday afternoon session, beginning at 3:30. Parents throughout the state who have retarded children are urged to attend, according to Dr. Felix J. Underwood, State Health Officer.

There will follow an informal social meeting for members and friends of the Mississippi Association for Retarded Children when parents will have an opportunity to meet the nationally known specialists discussing the Institute.

Parents are also invited to the Wednesday night session when two key figures in the field of retardation will be honored.

Dr. Lee Krasner, Director of Children's Psychiatric Services Hospital, Long Island, New York, and Dr. Charles M. Mazzoni, Director of the Hospital for Retarded Children, New Haven, Conn., will speak.

There will also be a luncheon meeting on Friday afternoon.

Dr. Underwood said the Institute
